Mary Oliver has been writing poetry for nearly five decades and in that time she has become America's foremost poetic voice on our experience of the physical world. This collection presents forty-two new poems, an entire volume in itself, along with works chosen by Oliver from six of the books she has published since New

more than twenty five years after the appearance of his first selected poems we at last have a magnificent new gathering of mark strand's work one that spans and celebrates his entire remarkable career to date from sleeping with one eye open 1964 through the wonderful middle work that includes the continuous life 1990 and crowned by the pulitzer prize winning blizzard of one 1998 and his most recent collection man and camel 2006 this book makes a crucial selection of strand's always beautiful and by turns humorous and melancholy poems over the decades strand's identity as a poet has remained firm he is existential playful mysterious a poet of simple words and sentences that somehow add up to powerful universal experiences with his incantatory language and radiant commanding imagery he creates mythic scenes and vistas that however otherworldly are ultimately of this earth their underlying subject the pain and pleasure of being mortal here is an essential compilation from one of the most beloved and honored american poets at work today without which no modern poetry collection is complete gathers poems from stanley kunitz including poems from his later years such as halley's comet and my mother's pears what is the role of spiritual experience in poetry what are the marks of a religious imagination how close can the secular and the religious be brought together how do poetic imagination and religious beliefs interact exploring such questions through the concept of the religious imagination this book integrates interdisciplinary research in the area of poetry on the one hand and theology philosophy and christian spirituality on the other established theologians philosophers literary critics and creative writers explain by way of contemporary and historical examples the primary role of the religious imagination in the writing as well as in the reading of poetry a major new collection from the winner of the 2019 frost medal for distinguished lifetime achievement in poetry before our eyes gathers more than thirty new poems by eleanor wilner along with representative selections from her seven previous books to present a major overview of her distinguished body of work a poet who engages with history in lyrical language wilner creates worlds that reflect on and illuminate the actual one drawing on the power of communal myth and memory to transform them into agents of change in these poems well known figures step out of old texts to alter their stories and new figures arise out of the local air a girl with a fury of bees in her hair homesick statues that step down from their pedestals a bat cave whose altar bears a judgment on our worship of war and a frog whose spring wakening invites our own in the process ancient myths are naturalized while nature is newly mythologized in the service of life before our eyes features widely anthologized works such as sarah's choice and reading the bible backwards in the new poems wilner records the bewildering public shocks of the current moment when civic life is under threat when language itself is attacked and when poetry's lens of collective imagination becomes a way to resist falsity to seek meaning and to really see what is before our eyes this wholly attractive volume that brings together twenty five years of elegantly shaped and voiced creations william pritchard the boston globe offers a generous sampling of mary jo salter s five previous award winning volumes and a collection of superb new poems a mid career retrospective of one of the major poets of her generation a selection of poems by celebrated poet gillian conoley that spans her arresting body of work from the idiosyncrasies of texas girlhood toward an encompassing inquiry into spirit and matter individual and state a haunting and intimately observed new collection from david st john a poet of soaring imagination and passionate candor in the last troubadour david st john has given us a collection of new and selected poems of astonishing beauty precise and keenly observed but also touched with sensuality and deep feeling nothing is too small to escape notice in guitar st john reflects on the beauty of that word or too large to be explored the suicide of a friend the illness of a lover or the texture of longing and desire a sharp observer of landscapes within and without st john directs his empathetic gaze and vivid inventive voice to investigating both the darkest and the most inspiring parts of being human the small moments between friends and lovers as well as the groundswells that alter lives at times lyrical sometimes conversational occasionally wry and playful st john s poetry reveals an expansive vision animated by intimacy and subtlety and by a disturbing force the work of an urgent sensibility and a true ear w s merwin the beauty music and artistry of david st john s widely admired work is fully on display in this masterful collection

it is time to celebrate the singular beauty and power of stanley moss s poetry he is a citizen of the world both past and present one who seems to have been everywhere and missed nothing these are poems out of the fullness of life that impress me as being all at once deep strange loving bountiful and a joy to read the damp genius of mortality presides stanley kunitz
